24 Deaths In State From Heat

99 Degrees Here Tuesday at 4 P. M.

A relentless heat wave that has claimed 24 lives in New York state since Saturday showed signs today of breaking but most of the state still baked in searing heat and the city engineer's office here recorded a reading of 99 degrees at 4 p. m. Tuesday to break another record.

Temperatures dropped slightly in some areas in the state graced with thundershowers, the Associated Press reported, and the Albany Weather Bureau said cooler air moving eastward through the Great Lakes would bring relief possibly tonight and more surely tomorrow.

The simmering mercury yesterday eclipsed a record 94 degrees recorded June 18, 1949, which, until yesterday's reading, was the highest for the date since 1935.

The low for the day was 76 at 3 a. m. today but the temperature was streaking up again late this morning when it hit 90 about 10:30.

106 Highest Mark
Highest reading to date, since the heat wave struck, was reported at 6 p. m. Saturday when the mercury zoomed to 106 degrees.

The parboiling weather sent residents scampering to lakes, beaches and picnic areas, seeking temporary relief from the blistering temperature.

Crowds Go to Beach
Attendance at Kingston Point Beach Tuesday was reported at 1,200 persons. Another record week-day attendance was expected today after a glance at the thermometer.

The Associated Press reported that scorching temperatures produced these events in the state yesterday.

Thermometer Breaks
A thermometer at the state highway department's truck-weighing station at Wellsview blew its top after passing the 120 mark shortly before noon.

Thousands of dead alewives, a variety of herring, were found on the shores of the Hudson and Mohawk rivers near Troy. A conservation official said the fish normally spawned and died at the time of the year but, he said, the hot weather made them "pop off" in vast quantities.

Coaches of crews preparing for the annual intercollegiate rowing regatta at Syracuse have scheduled drills for the dawn and dusk hours.

Without Power
An estimated 7,300 customers of the Niagara Mohawk Power Co. were without electricity for nearly three hours early today. A lightning strike on a transmission line was believed to be the cause of the failure. Affected were 2,600 homes in Syracuse, 1,200 in Homer and more than 3,000 in Fulton. Nearly an inch of rain fell in the storm.

Of the 24 deaths since Saturday, 18 have been by drowning. At least eight persons died in the state yesterday. Five of them were drowned.

225 Die In Nation
Since Saturday the weather—including floods and storms as well as broiling temperatures—took at least 225 lives in the nation. The heat wave was blamed for the largest toll—197.

A mass of cool air from Canada broke the torrid heat wave in the Midwest Tuesday.

To end the weather report on a note of cooling optimism: Christmas tree growers meet tonight at Binghamton in a cool corner of a pine and spruce grove to discuss proper pruning, control of brush and weeds and management problems.

Fliers Are Ready For Powder Hop

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., June 19 (P)—Women fliers relaxed today and checked their aircraft in preparation for the hop to Cuba tomorrow in the International Powder Puff Derby.

A dozen of them had checked in and awaited as many more before taking off on the final leg of the derby that started in McAllen, Tex., Monday.

Two of the fliers were hospitalized at Crestview, in West Florida, after their plane flipped over and was demolished when it touched the landing strip.

Mrs. Virginia Schumacher of Uhrichsville, Ohio, and her copilot, Helen Weatherill of Detroit, suffered cuts and bruises but were reported as not serious.

First to arrive from McAllen was Mrs. Jane White of Wayzata, Minn., with Mrs. Jean Schiefel of Rochester, Minn., as co-pilot.

Schwenk Directive Speeds Up Rebuilding of Hunter Street

Work was reported in full progress on the rebuilding of Hunter street this week as the result of an order by Alderman-at-Large John J. Schwenk, as acting mayor, to disregard controversy and continue with the work.

Criticism as to progress on the project was noted recently, and the order was issued by the alderman-at-large in the absence of Mayor Frederick H. Stang, who is attending the New York State Conference of Mayors in Syracuse.

Causes of the delays were not emphasized, but differences of opinion arose, and it was noted that nine aldermen had asked City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan for daily reports on construction progress.

To Use Regular Method
Schwenk's letter to Ernest A. Steuding, superintendent of public works, this week said: "You are hereby directed to proceed with all possible speed to complete reconstruction of Hunter street using the methods, which the Board of Public Works has established in the past for reconstruction of residential streets.

"You are to consult with the engineering department whenever, in your judgement, their technical assistance will be required."

One Man for Reports
In another letter to the city engineer Schwenk said:

"I have instructed the superintendent of public works to proceed with all possible speed to complete the reconstruction of Hunter street using the methods, which the Board of Public Works has established in the past for reconstruction of residential streets. He is to consult with your department only when he needs technical assistance."

"You are to remove all supervisory personnel from the job. If you wish, you may assign one man to the job for the purpose of fulfilling any obligation you may have to file reports with the Common Council. This man is not to interfere in any way with the progress of the work."

Held Conference
Schwenk said the orders were issued after a conference with Steuding and Hallinan.

Work has been under way on the street for more than five weeks.

In their letter the nine aldermen noted that on May 7 approximately $100,000 was authorized for reconstruction of Hunter street, North Manor avenue and Pearl street, and "in the interest of economy" they directed the city engineer to make daily reports on the streets as to, labor, materials and other costs.

Ask Each Street Data
The council's finance committee, it said, would expect the engineer to make a formal report (Continued on Page 6, Col. 4)

Hopes for Compromise After Veto of Work Bills

Albany, N. Y., June 19 (P)—Democratic Gov. Harriman, prepared to veto the Republicans' labor-benefit bills for a second time, is also ready to try a new approach to the controversy next year—compromise.

Harriman revealed to a news conference yesterday his intention of rejecting the unemployment insurance and Workmen's Compensation bills passed at the Legislature's session last week. "I think it has been obvious that I will not approve the bills," Harriman asserted. Instead of using a "pocket veto" as he had hinted previously, he said he would reject them outright to "clear off my desk."

The governor also told the reporters "I hope to get some agreement next winter," when the regular 1958 session of the Legislature will convene.

He said it was not a matter of whether he would give ground personally in the face of Republican obstinacy toward his demands but whether bills could be worked out that would meet the objections of seasonal industries and organized labor.

Same Reasons
Harriman's reasons for rejecting the bills are the same he gave last April when he vetoed identical measures passed by the 1957 session. He is drafting a new veto memorandum, however.

While he wants maximum benefits boosted from $36 to $45, as proposed by the Republican bills, he objects to other provisions written into the measures. Principally he opposes a feature in the jobless pay bill that would raise the payroll tax on employers from 2.7 per cent to as high as 3.5 per cent on seasonal industries. He also has spurned a provision for broadening court review of compensation awards.

Unconstitutional, He Says
"Even if I wanted to approve them, I couldn't because they are unconstitutional," Harriman said the GOP measures.

This was a reference to his claim that his proclamation recalling the Legislature into special session was so worded that the lawmakers could consider raising benefits only—and no other changes in the law. Republicans, who spurned that argument, were quick to blast the governor's veto announcement.

Blunder, Says Morhouse
L. Judson Morhouse, the GOP state chairman, declared that Harriman had "stumbled headlong into his biggest blunder."

Obviously looking ahead to the 1958 gubernatorial election, Morhouse declared: "The workers will not forget Mr. Harriman's collapse under pressure to 'protect' the garment manufacturers from an average $90-a-year increase in their unemployment tax."

To Address Party Tonight
The Garment Workers Union is an influential element of the Liberal party which supported Harriman in the 1954 election. The union is bitterly opposed to the bill, Harriman was slated to speak at a Liberal party dinner in New York city tonight.

The governor said that if, as the Republicans contend, the unemployment insurance fund must be increased to support higher benefits, consideration should be given to a suggestion advanced by Industrial Commissioner Isador Lubin.

Under Lubin's suggestion, the basis on which the tax is levied would be raised from the first $3,000 of annual salary per employee to the first $4,200.

This would parallel a change made in the federal social security tax structure last year.

May Be Campaign Issue
It would mean that industries paying the highest salaries (Continued on Page 7, Col. 5)

Ulster Milk Order Polls Are Listed

Ulster county will have four polling places for the dairy farmer referendum on the proposed New York-New Jersey Milk Marketing Order, it was announced today.

The referendum takes place on Tuesday, June 25. All polling places will be open from 8 a. m. to 3 p. m., daylight saving time.

The polling places in Ulster county will be located as follows as reported by Associate County Agent Robert D. Guzewich today:

Shawangunk town office building, in village of Wallkill. Gardiner Hotel, on Route 44-55 in village of Gardiner.

Accord Grange Hall, on Route 209, 1 mile north of Accord village.

Agriculture Extension Service office, 74 John street, Kingston.

Two Thirds Must Approve
The proposed New York-New Jersey milk order was issued by the United States Department of Agriculture on June 10. To become effective, it must be approved by at least two-thirds of all dairy farmers voting in the referendum.

An estimated 60,000 dairy farmers will be covered under the proposed order. Qualified dairy cooperative associations are permitted by law to vote for their members if they so choose. Producers who are not members of a cooperative and those who are members of a cooperative not voting for its members may cast individual ballots at the polling places. Eligible voters in the referendum will be those of dairy farmers who delivered milk for the proposed New York-New Jersey Marketing Area in March.

Dr. C. J. Blanford, market administrator of the New York Metropolitan Milk Marketing Area and the referendum agent, has announced that dairy farmers in Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Vermont will have the opportunity of casting their ballots at any one of the 297 polling places to be located in 98 counties.

Leland Edelman last seen by his parents, at 8:20 p. m. while they were picnicking several hundred yards behind their house.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Leland Edelman, said he could not have been gone more than three or four minutes before she and her husband missed him.

The Edelman's searched for about an hour, then called police. Fire companies from Hillsdale, Crarryville and Copake were engaged in the search, as well as volunteers from this community near Hudson.

State police at Hawthorne barracks supplied bloodhounds.

State Denies Beacon Coach Reinstatement

Albany, N. Y., June 20 (P)—The state education commissioner today denied a bid by William Hamm, for reinstatement as Beacon high school athletic director. Hamm was fired after he was arrested in a gambling raid.

Commissioner James E. Allen Jr. said in a brief opinion that the Beacon board of education "must, in matters of this kind, consider the effect on the pupils with respect to physical education instruction."

Allen noted that the legislature has said physical education courses should be designed to aid in the "well-rounded education of pupils and in the development of character, citizenship, physical fitness, health and the worthy use of leisure."

Allen said this "clearly indicates that the leadership to be provided by a director of physical education goes far beyond the mere technical aspects of physical education."

Hamm pleaded guilty to a disorderly conduct charge after the raid in Beacon Dec. 7. He was fined $10, along with several other men arrested.

The Beacon Board of Education, after a hearing, dismissed Hamm on the ground his retention would have a bad effect on discipline at the school.

Ike Hints Big Change In Disarmament Policy

2 Tankers Collide, 8 Are Dead

Flaming Slick Is Hindering Rescue

Brest, France, June 19 (P)—Two ocean-going tankers collided in darkness and heavy fog off the French Atlantic coast early today. The French radio station at Brest said rescue ships on the scene reported eight sailors dead and one missing.

The number of survivors could not be determined exactly.

Afloat, But Flaming
One tanker, identified as the Liberian-registered Stony Point, which previously was reported sunk, was lying low in the water and burning but had not gone down at latest report.

French maritime authorities said the other vessel was the Greek tanker Ionis.

The Brest station reported one crewman was missing from the Stony Point and eight men of the Ionis had lost their lives in the collision or the subsequent fire.

Thick fog and blistering flames from spreading oil slicks made rescue operations perilous as the crews apparently abandoned the two burning ships.

French, British and American vessels were rushing to the scene 30 miles off the tip of the Brittany Peninsula.

The collision took place in darkness and fog before dawn. The fog lay heavy on the oil-soaked sea and hampered rescue efforts. Helicopters were standing by to go to the aid of injured men if the fog cleared.

Can't Approach
The German ship Eric Reckmann was on the scene but radioed that it was extremely close to the burning tankers (Continued on Page 6, Col. 3)

Columbia Presses Search for Boy, 3

Hillsdale, N. Y., June 19 (P)—About 500 searchers fanned out over a three-mile area today in search of a 3-year-old boy who wandered into dense woods last night.

Leland Edelman last seen by his parents, at 8:20 p. m. while they were picnicking several hundred yards behind their house.

The boy's mother, Mrs. Leland Edelman, said he could not have been gone more than three or four minutes before she and her husband missed him.

The Edelman's searched for about an hour, then called police. Fire companies from Hillsdale, Crarryville and Copake were engaged in the search, as well as volunteers from this community near Hudson.

46 Units Reported Set For Vol March July 13

Thirty-one fire companies and auxiliaries have indicated they will participate in the parade being held July 13 in connection with the annual convention of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association. In addition there will be at least 15 musical organizations.

Driver Reports Beating, Loss of Money to Pair
A 22-year-old IBM employee picked up two young hitchhikers on his way home from work early this morning and got knocked unconscious and robbed of $30 for his trouble.

An investigation by Kingston state police disclosed that Albert Grant Gilkerson of RD 2, Box 372, Kingston, left work at the IBM plant at 12:54 a. m. en route to his home located near Route 28 about four or five miles north of Kingston.

Picked Up At Viaduct
As he was leaving the city he picked up two hitchhikers at the viaduct—one about 26 years old, blond about six feet two or three inches tall, with slim build, the other about 22, about five feet nine inches tall, slim with black hair. Both were wearing sports clothes.

According to the story told to Sgt. R. L. Keating, Cpl. Edward Shannon, BCI, and Troopers William Shurtler and James Kaljian, both of the hitchhikers got into the front seat with Gilkerson who then proceeded west on Route 28 to a point near the Hill Top Restaurant, town of Kingston, where Gilkerson turns off to his home.

Says Gun Pulled
One of the hitchhikers reportedly pulled out a short-barreled revolver while the other yanked climbed into the back seat saying he also had a gun and that the driver was "going to travel a little farther."

Gilkerson told troopers he was then struck on the head and lost consciousness. He doesn't know which of the men hit him, nor with what instrument.

When he regained consciousness he was lying in his 1953 sedan on Route 28 in Ashokan. The vehicle had been pulled off the north side of the highway into some bushes.

Gilkerson went to the home of Robert DuBois, aroused the family and state police were notified. Troopers said Gilkerson told them about $30 was removed from his wallet. The wallet was left in the car.

Phoenicia state police were notified and set up a roadblock at the Ulster-Delaware county line, maintaining the block for approximately four hours.

No Suspects
Kingston troopers patrolled Route 28 and the Kingston Police Department was notified.

Local troopers said this morning that no suspects had been apprehended.

The car was towed to the Kingston station where it will be processed for fingerprints. The investigation is continuing.

Is Hopeful Over Red Proposals Denies Stassen Was Reprimanded

Washington, June 19 (P)—President Eisenhower said today he would be perfectly delighted to make a satisfactory agreement suspending atomic tests while negotiating with Russia for some permanent disarmament program. His words indicated possible major revision in U. S. policy.

Under questioning at a news conference, Eisenhower said he believed—although he did not want to commit himself finally at the moment—that a prohibition on the manufacture of atomic weapons might not necessarily have to be a part of the package for suspending tests.

Contrary to Others
His tentative comment on this point was contrary to what State Department officials have been saying privately since negotiator Harold Stassen returned to London. The line has been that the United States would only agree to suspend tests as part of a first step agreement which also provided for halting manufacture of weapons under a carefully inspected program.

Eisenhower told his news conference that a three-point proposal put forward by Russia in the United Nations talks at London a week ago deserves the most earnest and sympathetic study although he could not yet say how it would work out.

Asked Test Moratorium
The Soviets called for a two to three year moratorium on atomic tests, for a commission to supervise the agreement and for inspection posts within the territories of Russia, the United States and Britain.

Eisenhower said this was a hopeful sign for the Russians to put up such a proposal but that he would want to see all the details. He added it is one thing to state a generalization and another to see how it works out.

Eisenhower began his question and answer discussion of disarmament by stating flatly that Stassen was not reprimanded when he returned to Washington 10 days ago. The allies, mainly France and Britain, had complained that Stassen was working too closely with Soviet representative Valerian Zorin.

Upholds Usefulness
Eisenhower said that he had heard of the feeling that Stassen was running too fast. In response to further question he said that he did not think that Stassen's usefulness had been ruined by being called home for consultation and by the reports that he had been reprimanded.

In response to a question, Eisenhower said he would be willing to have the United States enter into a temporary agreement for suspension of atomic tests while efforts are continued to achieve a "package" disarmament pact covering much more ground.

In fact, he said, he would be delighted if such a limited agreement could be reached pending achievement of a package pact.

But Eisenhower said he did not mean to imply this country ever would agree to an unlimited and unconditional short term suspension of nuclear tests.

Other Points
Girard case—without specific mention of a district court ruling yesterday barring the government from turning GI William S. Girard over to the Japanese for trial, Eisenhower said he would not care to discuss the case at (Continued on Page 6, Col. 8)

Realtors Asked to Vote Against 1959 Convention

Albany, N. Y., June 19 (P)—The State Assn. of Real Estate Boards, which claims 4,000 realty firms in the state as members, has urged its membership to help defeat a proposal to hold a state constitutional convention in 1959.

The proposal will be voted on in the general election next November.

John C. Fisher Jr., executive vice president of the association, said Monday a resolution urging members to fight the convention plan was approved at the real estate group's annual meeting last week at Kiamesha Lake.

The resolution was not made public at the time.

The resolution said the association "does not feel that the issues are sufficient to warrant the expense, estimated at seven to eight million dollars, to hold such a convention, nor the time and effort that would be required by citizen participation in such a convention."

The Albany Times Union said it was understood that real estate interests feared a convention would open the door to revision of constitutional provisions affecting taxation of real estate.

NIXON AND KNOWLAND

Some observers in Washington believe Vice President Nixon is moving unmistakably toward the Eisenhower camp as the long build-up toward the 1960 GOP presidential nomination begins to accelerate slightly.

If this is true, practiced political analysts would accept it as a logical move on Nixon's part.

Whatever may be the proper measure of his stature and talents, it is plain that the vice president's prominence as a presidential candidate grows principally from his association with President Eisenhower.

He does not know whether, when the time comes, the President will give him either an open or a tacit blessing. But if such a blessing should be given, Nixon will be far more favorably placed to get it if he has identified himself clearly with Mr. Eisenhower's policies and views.

Some think the President will never openly endorse any man nor even quietly pass the word for him. But Nixon still could reap rich benefit among convention delegates if he stood out almost alone among those aligned with the Eisenhower wing.

Though his potential rival, Senator William F. Knowland, has not yet declared candidacy, it is increasingly assumed he will eventually do so. Meantime, he is staking out the Republicans' conservative wing as his own territory.

There was a time when Nixon seemed the conservatives' choice, but Knowland's aggressive maneuvers have gained him superior allegiance in this field.

But, having once been acceptable to the conservatives, Nixon may with some reason imagine that in a final convention test he could swing enough of them his way to gain the decisive advantage.

Knowland, if he gets into the fray, has just the opposite task, winning enough of the Eisenhower-minded Republicans to add to his conservative base. Since conservatives have not put over a man of their choice since 1936, Knowland would seem to have the more formidable chore.

Today Nixon is still measured widely as the front runner, and none of his newest maneuvers appears to be damaging his status.

HOLIDAY TRAFFIC VICTIM

If you are a man between 25 and 44 years old and you drive a car be extra careful in traffic over the Fourth of July weekend, the National Safety Council warns.

The Council, which is conducting a nationwide campaign to hold Fourth of July accidents to a minimum, declares the typical holiday traffic victim is a male driver between 25 and 44 years old. The accident in which he dies occurs between 6 p. m. and midnight.

The accident is most likely to occur on a rural highway or in an unincorporated area, and the chances are that the victim has been drinking. The typical victim is speeding when the accident occurs. It is caused by an out-of-control plunge off the road or a crash with another car.

Motor vehicle accidents lead the list of Fourth of July hazards, the Council says. Drowning from swimming and fishing accidents is the second biggest risk. Other causes of death are fireworks and firearms, sunstroke and heat exhaustion, food poisoning and falls.

One hundred and fifty-eight national organizations have joined with the Council in a united effort to curb these accidents. The Fourth of July safety campaign is designed to increase public awareness of the extra holiday hazards and the extra caution to overcome them. It also seeks to help officials, traffic officers and safety leaders in their efforts to hold down the death toll.

It can't be said that motorists don't do anything about the traffic situation. Many do something to make it worse.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
THE SWISS REMEDY

Taxation has become an epidemic which is fast reducing the keenest minds and the most active personalities in all countries to frustration and despair. It is excessive taxation which is driving the Middle Class into the proletariat and altering the social institutions of all societies. It is taxation, as a weapon for the distribution of wealth and benefits, which is making more and more people partially dependent upon government for a low standard of life.

When such a horrible disease affects mankind, wise men find means to circumvent the tax laws and the Swiss remedy has become quite popular and is being adopted by many countries—my own list would show that about 27 countries have gone into the business of providing institutions of deities for those who choose to risk not to pay taxes.

The remedy is simple: convert all your money into cash, open an anonymous account in a bank where you think you will be safest, make deposits in cash regularly, and never pay a tax. It is done every day. Fred C. Scribner, Jr., Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, testified recently that $500,000 a week is deposited in large amounts in United States banks for transfer to anonymous accounts in Switzerland. This sum of $500,000 a week represents only deposits made in cash. It is a very low figure because it reflects large amounts and the likelihood is that the more security-conscious folks are depositing small amounts in several banks.

The bank asks no questions. There are no general laws requiring a bank to identify a depositor, particularly as he is using the bank's facilities to transfer some funds out of which the bank makes a quick fee. So no bank keeps investigators to check the names and addresses of those who deposit cash and the Treasury really has no business going after a man who deposits cash because the currency of the United States is legal tender and the Treasury has no right to accuse a citizen of evading the income tax only because the citizen uses legal tender instead of checks.

So, here is quite a situation which some day some citizen will take into the courts, where he will undoubtedly win his case by proving that he paid his income tax, but still prefers legal tender to bank checks. Perhaps the greatest violation of civil liberties, but a most useful one, was the Al Capone case in which the government established it as due process that if it failed to prove that a man committed murder and other felonies, they could get him for income tax violations. This really made the income tax violation the most heinous offense in the United States and the one, therefore, that required the keenest ingenuity.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Scribner said that all large cash deposits in banks are scrutinized.

"The interest here is not on the part of the main Treasury, as such. It is an interest of the Internal Revenue Department in the sense that they are interested in any large deposits regardless of who makes them, to see if they lead into any area of profits we haven't tapped, or have not been properly reported."

In a word, the position of the Treasury is that the deposit of legal tender rather than checks automatically sets up an investigation, which some people beat by depositing their money to a numbered foreign account or a foreign nominee but giving a fictitious name and address in this country.

This colloquy is telling: "Scribner. There have been several cases where they have not been able to locate immediately persons bearing the names of those who made deposits."

"It perhaps would be fair to say that, perhaps, they have found in some instances that deposits are made under assumed names."

"Rusher (Associate Counsel). That is to say, when the investigators of Internal Revenue go to find out who has been making large cash deposits to the credit of Swiss numbered accounts, they have found, at least in a number of cases, that they cannot find a person bearing the name of the depositor living at the address given when he made the deposit; is that correct?"

"Scribner. There have been some instances in which our investigators reported that to be the fact; yes, sir."

There are clearly many ways of skinning a cat. (Copyright, 1957, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.
A DAY AT VANG VIENG

Yesterday we wrote about Dr. Thomas Dooley and his medical mission to Laos in the Far East. Today, we will spend a typical day with him. "Our typical day starts at dawn or thereabouts. (No one knows the exact time, clocks are a curse of civilization and why spend your life strapped to the watch on our wrist?) After breakfast of fried eggs, we would walk down the path to the hospital. There are already over fifty people hold rounds on this. Today we have several cases of malaria, a lacerated Achilles tendon (back of heel) repaired last week, and a charred third degree burn of the back and buttocks. There is a variety of machete-inflicted wounds of the legs as these people must hack their meager existence from a savage jungle. The machete is a large heavy knife. Yesterday we admitted a young lad who had been mauled by a wild boar. We have six cases of fulminating (rapid and severe) pneumonia which I know will respond magnificently to Combiotic. You will see a few patients severely dehydrated (dried out) due to their dysentery. We give them saline solution by vein, bouillon, tea, and Terramycin by mouth. They do well. We have a few nutritional problems of assorted types but those with the severest cases have massive edema (swelling of fluid in tissues) and heart enlargement—kwashiorkor."

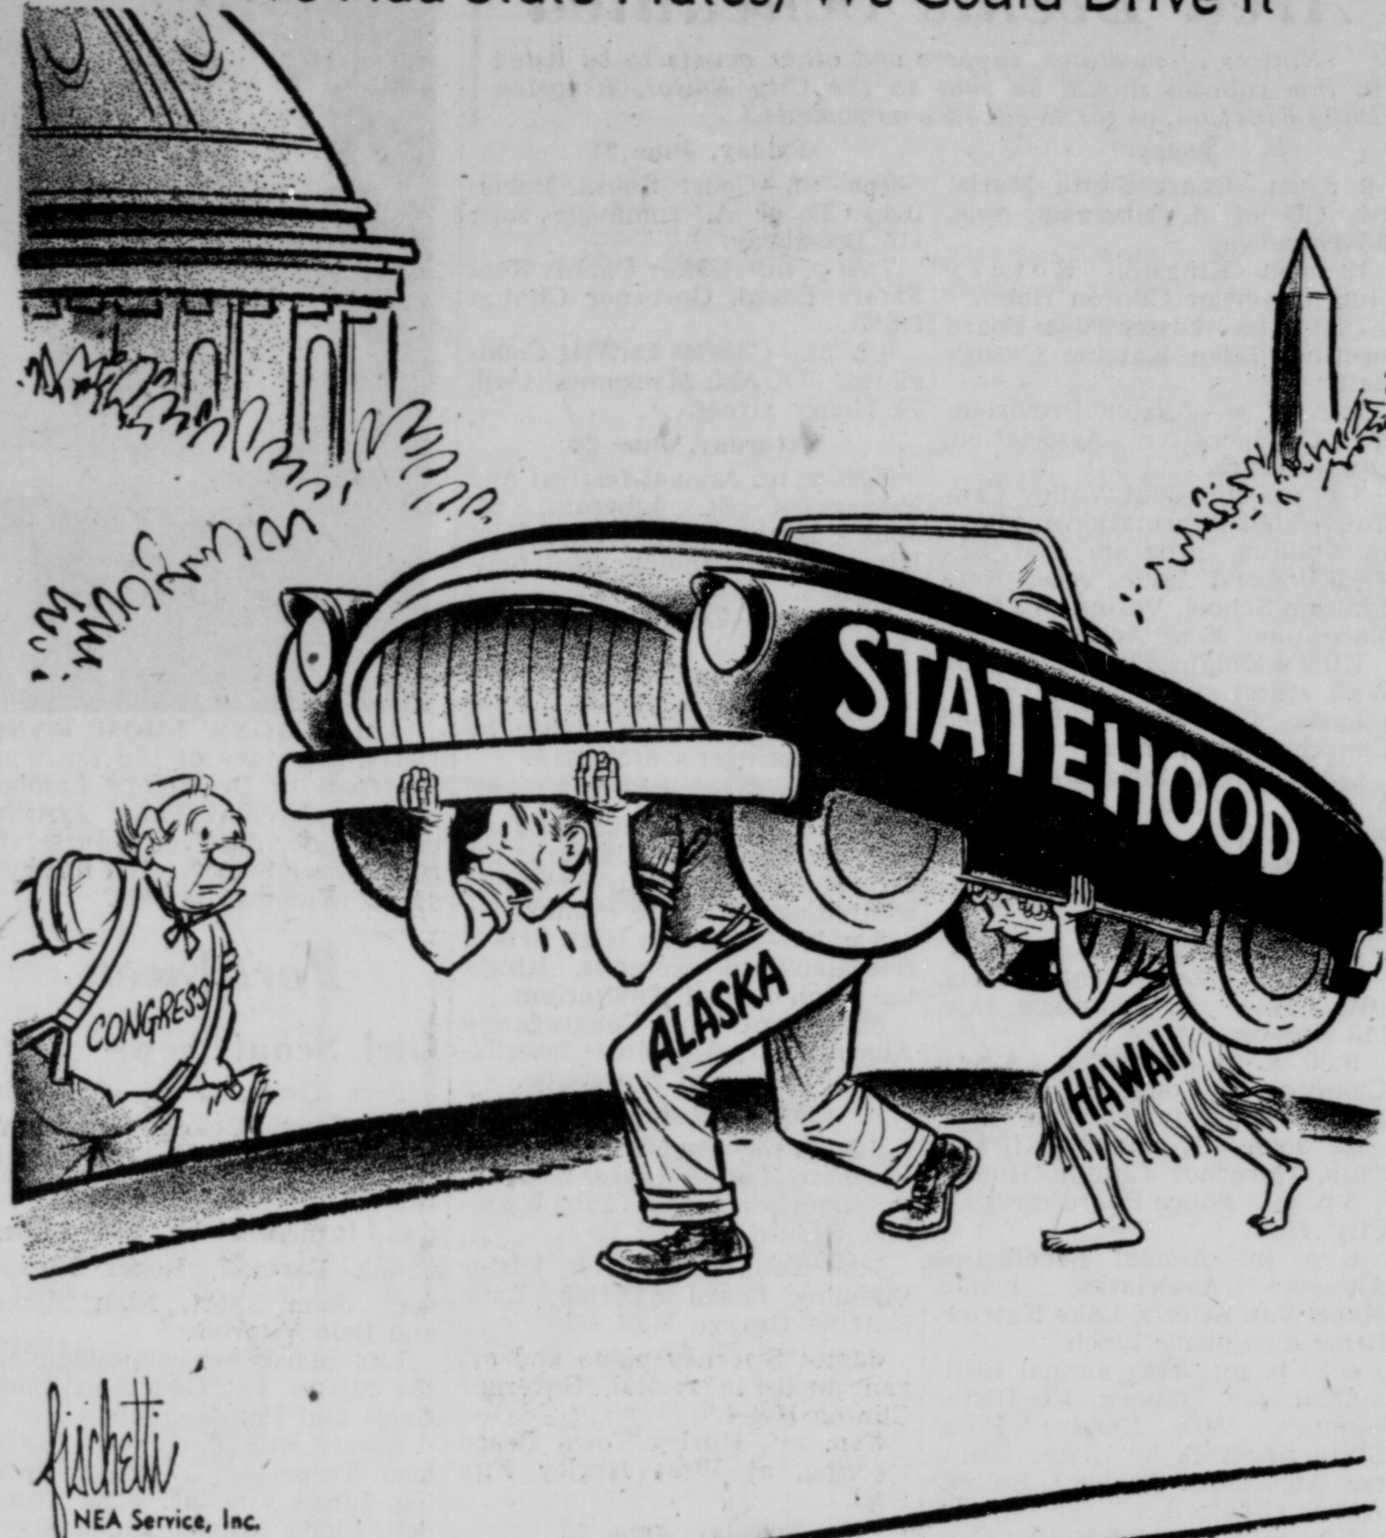

"When rounds are finished, sick call begins. The Lao nurses assist as we always work through the Lao as this increases their prestige and education, and keeps us from blundering too badly over words such as 'chep hua' which can mean 'headache' or 'criminally insane.' The long, sometimes dreary line, seems endless. There are always wizened old people spitting out their lung tissue—pleading for help—not much I can do but palliation (soothing pain but not curing). There are children with beriberi and other deficiency diseases—due to ignorance, not to famine. Many kids carry their fungus scabby sores like a dirty stocking cap. We always have a bucketful of chronic progressive sloughing ulcers of the lower limbs. The quick response of these to penicillin and good nursing care is remarkable."

"We return now to our house, which my boys have entitled 'Uncle Tom's Cabin.' We lunch on C-rations, rice and corn (the latter two grow here, the former is a necessary horror developed by the U. S. Navy in wartime emergency—but giving credit where it is due, six months of just this, with an occasional gin and tonic, has kept my team in fine fettle although a bit thin)."

"After lunch, we load up the jeep with medical boxes and drive on the trails into the surrounding mountains to treat tribes who could not get down to our hospital in the morning. Two members of the team hold this off-the-jeep tail-gate clinic until the sun is about to set. The other team members hold afternoon classes in our village, Vang Vieng. We have three courses. One is the local school for 300 children on hygiene and sanitation. The second is for 15 girls who come from 15 different villages—we are training them to be midwives. The third is for the villagers themselves covering such topics as baby care, proper cooking, washing and latrine building. Our education program is extremely important as we do not want to be a hit-and-run mission. When we leave this area, we want to leave something behind us and this program will accomplish much of this."

Tomorrow I would like to pass along more of Dr. Dooley's story. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

"If We Had State Plates, We Could Drive It"

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington, (NEA)—The real Arabian Nights story of the Richards mission to sell the Eisenhower Doctrine to the Middle East is not in what it accomplished. That has already been told. The lighter, more human story is in how it was accomplished.

Ambassador James P. Richards, former South Carolina congressman and ex-chairman of House Foreign Relations Committee, was determined to run a working mission and not a junket. But one of his hardest jobs was attending receptions and feasts. If the host countries didn't entertain, the U. S. ambassador did.

"We got invitations to 1,000 banquets," says Ambassador Richards, "or at least 60." Other members of the 10-man team of diplomatic, military and foreign aid experts who went along put the number at 110. They were on the ground 55 of the 60 days in their 15-country, 30,000-mile trip. They got at least two engraved invitations every day from hosts who wanted to show off famed Middle Eastern hospitality, splendor and culture at their best.

AMBASSADOR RICHARDS himself lost 10 pounds. Some of the other, younger mission members gained 10 pounds. The dish they encountered most often was cous-cous. The recipe varied from country to country. Basically it is cooked wheat, over which a highly seasoned chicken concoction is poured. This is topped by garlic water—clear and strictly high octane. Timid western stomachs had to learn about that the hard way.

Arriving at a capital, the team went immediately into huddles with the resident American Embassy staff. Next there were courtesy calls on the head of government, followed by a meeting with his full cabinet to explain the Eisenhower Doctrine.

Economic, military and political experts from the two countries worked in groups. There were huddles far into every night. Reports were then made to

The most lavish feast in their honor was given by Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia. The service was solid gold—plates, dishes, cutlery, candlesticks and table ornaments. Thoughtfully, the Lion of Judah served western cooking for his guests and native dishes for himself and his ministers.

"I want to tell you that these Mohammedans don't drink as much as this crowd at the Press Club," says Ambassador Richards. But Saudi Arabia was the only country where no alcohol at all was served, in strict compliance with the Koran.

THE MISSION encountered only one whole roast sheep. That was in Morocco. They sat on the floor on cushions. Two men carried in a huge tray bearing the carcass. The guest reached over and pulled pieces of flesh off the bones with their fingers, and ate it from their fingers.

They went to only one night club. That was in Tunisia, on the last night at their last stop before coming home. "There we really did let down," Ambassador Richards admits.

Otherwise, he drove his team hard. There were briefing sessions on every plane hop into the next country. Two typewriters were kept working so hard "they drowned out the airplanes' engines."

Arriving at a capital, the team went immediately into huddles with the resident American Embassy staff. Next there were courtesy calls on the head of government, followed by a meeting with his full cabinet to explain the Eisenhower Doctrine.

Economic, military and political experts from the two countries worked in groups. There were huddles far into every night. Reports were then made to Richards, who made the decisions.

FINALLY, ANOTHER meeting with the cabinet for final agreement on a communique, a celebration feast and off to the next stop.

Ambassador Richards was a different kind of American diplomat to most Middle Easterners. "You can't translate 'We ah heah to he'p you,' it's Arabic or any other language," one diplomat explains.

Everything he said came out okra, hominy, black strap molasses and chewing tobacco which are as strange to the Middle East as cou-cous was to the Americans.

But the ambassador's honesty, his sincerity and his sense of humor got through. He won acceptance for the Eisenhower Doctrine, in which he believed and which he knew would take guts to put over.

In addition to 80 million dollars which he did not give away, Ambassador Richards brought back new assurances of understanding and friendship for America. Also, he brought back a tremendous respect of his hosts. He admits modestly: "I learned a lot."

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

George Meany and Walter Reuther have agreed that they are fit to sit in judgment on their old associates. So they will administer a code of "ethics." However, they warn us not to pass any public laws to enforce those "ethics."

If we insist, we may have a revolution.

To understand all this we should clean our minds of a superstition that all such politico-social potentes hold some charter from the American people to operate a bloody-handed job-monopoly. It is the only thing of its kind west of Russia since Hitler's labor front.

Meany and Reuther are only Meany and Reuther. They have no more authority to speak for American "labor" than Westbrook Pegler has. As citizens, their reputations fall far short of Pegler's. After all, Pegler has never knowingly associated with criminals as Meany has; or collaborated with rioters and vandals, including Communist enemies of the United States, to terrorize communities, destroy property and injure American workers as Reuther's union has. The belief that "recognition" of the AFL-CIO by groveling presidents and Congresses confers authority on such brutal ruffians has no value.

Meany is silent about his calls on his criminal personal friend, Joe Fay, in Sing Sing where Fay was serving 10 years for extorting about $3 million from contractors on vast public and private construction jobs. The graft on the public jobs was paid through taxes so Meany's friend was robbing the people and undermining the economy. Meany had general knowledge of this at the time. Don't forget that this was a notorious scandal

Court Ruling Called Blow To Congressional Inquiries

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 19—The Supreme Court of the United States has crippled the effectiveness of congressional investigations.

By one sweeping decision the court has opened the way to Communists, traitors, disloyal citizens and crooks of all kinds—in business and in labor—to refuse to answer any questions which the witness arbitrarily decides for himself are not "pertinent" to a legislative purpose.

This means that every time a senator or a representative asks a question in an investigation the witness must be given a clear explanation of what the "legislative purpose" is and this may even have to be confirmed by a resolution adopted in each case by the Senate or the House. Then it may have to be passed upon in a decision by the Supreme Court before it is really valid.

This cumbersome procedure kills future investigations that seek to expose the ways and means by which the Communists infiltrate America. It kills any searching investigation of racketeers in the labor-union movement, or any other kind of corruption. Had the Supreme Court's new "law" been in effect during the Harding administration it would have killed off any exposure of the Teapot Dome scandals. Had it been rendered in 1950 Alger Hiss could have avoided answering questions asked by the House Committee on Un-American Activities, whose "charter" of authority held ever since 1938 now is torn to shreds by the Supreme Court.

Must Anticipate Queries
Senator McClellan of Arkansas, Senator Kefauver of Tennessee, Senator Eastland of Mississippi and the chairman of various House investigating committees might as well shut up shop. The power to investigate has been curtailed drastically on the ground that Congress has to particularize in every case and specify in its resolutions exactly why it wants certain questions answered. It must somehow anticipate all the questions the investigating committees may wish to ask. This is, as Justice Clark, a former attorney general, declared in his dissent, both "unnecessary and unworkable." He added:

"The resulting restraint imposed on the committee system appears to cripple the system beyond workability." This is because the Supreme Court has now set itself up as knowing more about what Congress needs to know to legislate than Congress itself thinks it does. In the words of Justice Clark:

"The majority (of the court) has substituted the judiciary as the grand inquisitor and supervisor of congressional investigations. It has never been so."

Legal Vacuum Seen
All the justices, of course, are honorable men and conscientious in the pursuit of their duty. But for the most part they live in a legal vacuum. They display a curious unawareness of the actual operations of Communist subversion. To them, apparently, there is no Communist menace, no such thing as infiltration by stooges of the Communists, and if a man admits he has worked and "cooperated" with the Communists and then refuses to tell who else he met in such activities, this is construed now as a "right of silence" derived from the First Amendment which now added to the Fifth Amendment, makes it easy for treason to be protected.

The Supreme Court majority realized, to be sure, the gravity of its decision and tried to soften the blow by minimizing the future danger. All the Congress has to do now, the court patronizingly suggests, is to take "added care" in authorizing the use of compulsory process. But, as Justice Clark realistically points out, the court doesn't say how this "added care" could be applied in practice.

The Supreme Court majority—Chief Justice Warren, Justices Black, Douglas and Brennan—seemed to think that the desire of the individual to be spared any unpleasant publicity due to his past associations, was more sacred and more important than the right of Congress to get information about Communist plots and infiltration in order to pass laws to safeguard the nation against destruction. The ruling was proclaimed, too, by a court that anyone hereafter can track down and advocate the forcible overthrow of the government of the United States, but unless there is conclusive proof that these teachings are part of a conspiracy to "incite" someone to some action, the viewpoint expressed is merely "abstract doctrine" and not subject to punishment by any law Congress might pass.

Called Fateful Day
There were other significant cases decided by the Supreme Court on Monday, June 17, 1957, which will make that day a fateful one in American history. State legislatures were told that they, too, cannot investigate and require witnesses to answer their questions except where it can be proved that the state has an overriding interest in a "subversive" individual which outweighs his right to silence, and this, in turn, might have to be reviewed in each instance by the Supreme Court of the United States.

In another case, the court didn't decide the merits of the "disloyalty" charges against John Stewart Service but said the secretary of state couldn't reverse his undersecretary who had ruled favorably to Mr. Service. In still another case involving 14 persons convicted of Communist activity under the Smith law, nine were set free and five ordered to stand trial—so as to ascertain the facts as to activities of the defendants relating to one word—"organize"—in the existing law. It could mean activities with reference to a new party or subversive group or continuing process of organizing in Communist circles as was the department of justice has contended. Since organization work in the Communist party now is ruled by the court to happen only at the creation of the party in 1945 and is adjudged not to be a "continuing" process, certain defendants are set free because they were not prosecuted within the time prescribed in the statute.

Sees Escape for Crooks
These decisions will cause much consternation throughout the country. They will make happy in some respects, the so-called "liberals" who have long crusaded against congressional investigations of communist activity, but it will make them unhappy in other respects because it gives crooked labor racketeers, shady business operators, financial manipulators and other wrongdoers a means of escape from congressional exposure.

Naturally, Moscow should be happy. All they need do now is to instruct their Communist party in the United States how to adapt themselves to the new ruling. The Communist "Daily Worker" editorials have assumed all along that the court would decide some day as it did this week, that a man can betray this country and in certain circumstances get away with it. ture danger. All the Congress has to do now, the court patronizingly suggests, is to take "added care" in authorizing the use of compulsory process. But, as Justice Clark realistically points out, the court doesn't say how this "added care" could be applied in practice.

The Supreme Court majority—Chief Justice Warren, Justices Black, Douglas and Brennan—seemed to think that the desire of the individual to be spared any unpleasant publicity due to his past associations, was more sacred and more important than the right of Congress to get information about Communist plots and infiltration in order to pass laws to safeguard the nation against destruction. The ruling was proclaimed, too, by a court that anyone hereafter can track down and advocate the forcible overthrow of the government of the United States, but unless there is conclusive proof that these teachings are part of a conspiracy to "incite" someone to some action, the viewpoint expressed is merely "abstract doctrine" and not subject to punishment by any law Congress might pass.

Called Fateful Day
There were other significant cases decided by the Supreme Court on Monday, June 17, 1957, which will make that day a fateful one in American history. State legislatures were told that they, too, cannot investigate and require witnesses to answer their questions except where it can be proved that the state has an overriding interest in a "subversive" individual which outweighs his right to silence, and this, in turn, might have to be reviewed in each instance by the Supreme Court of the United States.

In another case, the court didn't decide the merits of the "disloyalty" charges against John Stewart Service but said the secretary of state couldn't reverse his undersecretary who had ruled favorably to Mr. Service. In still another case involving 14 persons convicted of Communist activity under the Smith law, nine were set free and five ordered to stand trial—so as to ascertain the facts as to activities of the defendants relating to one word—"organize"—in the existing law. It could mean activities with reference to a new party or subversive group or continuing process of organizing in Communist circles as was the department of justice has contended. Since organization work in the Communist party now is ruled by the court to happen only at the creation of the party in 1945 and is adjudged not to be a "continuing" process, certain defendants are set free because they were not prosecuted within the time prescribed in the statute.

Sees Escape for Crooks
These decisions will cause much consternation throughout the country. They will make happy in some respects, the so-called "liberals" who have long crusaded against congressional investigations of communist activity, but it will make them unhappy in other respects because it gives crooked labor racketeers, shady business operators, financial manipulators and other wrongdoers a means of escape from congressional exposure.

Naturally, Moscow should be happy. All they need do now is to instruct their Communist party in the United States how to adapt themselves to the new ruling. built the Delaware Aqueduct and other massive jobs. Meany admitted that he was prompted by old friendship for Fay's mother and brothers.

On my last trip to Washington, I tried to corner Meany. But his press agent, who gets $8,000 a year plus big expense accounts, make his ethics look good, sent me word that the answer to my request was "No." I expected that. What could he say?

Two years ago, Notre Dame University gave Meany a religious medal which used to have some prestige. This caused a little scandal among Catholics who knew Meany's background.

Mrs. Joe Ryan suffered deeply from the ingratitude of Joe's old friends in the racket during the years when she was dying of cancer. She sometimes talked by phone to another woman who also was dying and she said, toward the end, that she never went out any more.

Mrs. Ryan got no medal. But her husband's loyal gang, some of them goons, to be sure, but many of them educated young men, gave her a testimonial which was preferable under the circumstances.

They scrambled up out of the beds of ships on the west side docks and stood with bare heads bowed as her cortege passed that day. (Copyright, 1957, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

"other two" low-priced trucks!

Here's the scientific way to measure the actual pulling power a truck can deliver to its rear wheels. All three low-priced trucks were hooked up, one by one, to a special dynamometer truck. Each was comparably equipped and test-loaded.

Super-sensitive gauges inside the dynamometer truck register the maximum pull of each truck at 10 m.p.h. Insets in photos above show actual gauge readings in each case. To convert these readings into pounds, simply multiply them by three.

The results are conclusive evidence that Dodge Power Giants give you a third more pulling power than either of the "other two" low-priced makes. And this is just one of a series of tests that prove Dodge is the best truck of the low-priced three.

Siczek offered a Mass for the happy repose of his soul. A large number of relatives and friends attended the service as a final tribute of respect. Among those who called at the chapel during the bereavement was a delegation from Rescue Hook and Ladder Co., and also the members of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the company. Beautiful floral tributes and many Mass cards were placed near the casket. Bearers were Thomas Coughlin, the building is for the NSA. Letters two feet tall above the main entrance label it unmistakably at the "National Security Agency."

With 1,400,000 square feet of floor space, the three-story steel, concrete and glass building is only one fourth the size of the Pentagon. But it is described as the largest building of its kind in the country.

Longest Corridor

Shaped like a large square U, with two interior light courts, the building is 980 feet long and 560 feet wide and boasts the "longest unobstructed (straight) corridor in the country. It runs the entire 980-foot length of the building. The U. S. Capitol in Washington previously claimed this honor but its central corridor is but 750 feet long.

It is surrounded by a double fence, entered only through four well-guarded gate houses. Among the mechanical contraptions designed to keep the NSA's secrets secret is a system of "security conveyor belts" which runs at 100 feet per minute through the basement of the building. They will carry trays of documents and papers to eight substations scattered throughout the structure.

Has Tube System

A German-made pneumatic tube system can carry papers at 25 feet per second and can handle up to 800 tubes in an hour. Each tube has its own autopilot. You dial its destination and the tube whisks itself to the proper station.

The outside walls are made of precast concrete panels and sealed windows. No windows can be opened and the building is completely air conditioned by four units each of which turns out 1,100 tons of refrigerated air. A cafeteria seats 1,400 and the auditorium will hold 500.

In addition, the building has eight snack bars, a post exchange, complete hospital with X-ray, operating rooms and dental chairs, a shoe shop, barber shop and bank.

2 Tankers . . .

ly dangerous to approach the two burning vessels. The "Stony Point" was reported to be a 15,000-ton ship while the Greek vessel was 19,000 tons. Lloyd's Register, however, lists only one Stony Point, a 10,576-ton American ship operated by the United States Petroleum Carriers, Inc. of New York.

French Maritime authorities reported a second German ship, the Keitum, also was on the scene.

Picks Up 36 Men

The Reckmann reported earlier that she had picked up 36 men from the Greek tanker, including 10 injured, and 16 survivors from the Stony Point. It was believed that the dead men were injured who died after being picked up.

French Helicopters took off from France but reported they were unable to find the two stricken tankers or the rescue ships in the fog.

Larry Avella, Fred Albrecht, Francis Coughlin, John Sharp and John Wolf. Burial took place in Mt. Calvary Cemetery where Father Siczek gave the final absolution at the grave.

Valentine Henry Kraus

Funeral services for Valentine Henry Kraus of 127 Pine street were held Tuesday afternoon from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, Inc., with the Rev. Olney Cook of St. Paul's Lutheran Church and the Rev. Mr. Cook visited the funeral home in a body and extended sympathy and condolence to the bereaved family. Kingston Lodge, 10, F. & A. M. held ritualistic services which were conducted by Past Master Gordon A. Craig. Plumbbers Local No. 223, led by its president, Martin Oberkirch, also visited the funeral home and extended sympathy and condolence. Bearers were Robert S. Dixon, William Koepfen, Samuel Asstolos, Paul Troder, Albert J. Sapmann, all members of the Church Council, and Almeric Herb, a relative of deceased. Burial was in Hurley Cemetery.

John L. Weaver

John L. Weaver of 112 Foxhall avenue died today following a short illness. Born in Kingston, a son of the late Joseph and Catherine Kinsley Weaver, he was well known resident of this city. During World War I he served in France with the U. S. Armed Forces. For many years he was a salesman for several breweries concerns in this area. He also served as a rural postman during World War 2 and until his illness a few weeks ago was custodian of Kingston Elks' building on Fair street. In addition to his wife, the former Valria Schick, he is survived by a daughter, Berenice, wife of Peter Crociani of Garfield, N. J.; three sons, Joseph of Poughkeepsie, Raymond of Forest Hills, L. I. and Lt. J. E. Weaver of Washington, D. C. Also surviving are four grandchildren and a great-aunt, Minnie Kinsley of this city. Modern National Schwenk . . .

port to it after each street was completed. The nine aldermen who signed the letter were Richard V. Roth, 12th ward; Samuel J. Perry, 6th ward; and Hirschell Mayes, first ward; all Republicans, and the six Democrats, Edwin Radel, third ward; James K. Ryan, 10th ward; Frank Zaksek, fourth ward; Frank C. Sass, seventh ward; Arthur Smith, eighth ward and William K. Bodenweber, ninth ward.

Thinks Bid Without Grounds

Schwenk indicated that his order to continue work on the street in compliance with former city practice, was guided by the fact that the same regulations affecting the city engineer's office in the building of new streets, does not apply for the reconstruction of streets. The nine aldermen, he felt, were without actual legal support in their bid to the engineering department.

The five Republicans, who did not sign the letter requesting daily accounts from the engineer's office, were William S. Keyser, second ward; George P. Norton, Jr., sixth ward; William A. Davis, 11th ward, and George F. McArdle, 13th ward.

Schwenk's letters, ordering the work to continue as formerly, left the way open for the suggested reports to the council from "one man" to be assigned by the city engineer for that purpose.

The letters were signed by Schwenk, both as acting mayor and president of the BPW, in the mayor's absence.

Dealer Dies of Shock

Tokyo, June 19 (AP)—A 70-year-old kimono dealer died of shock today when he tried to pay for a new supply of material and found his roll of 200,000 yen ($355) missing. At the morgue the money was found inside the lining of the old man's trousers. It had slipped through a hole in his pocket.

Actresses' Mate Felled

Santa Monica, Calif., June 19 (AP)—Actress Irene Dunne's husband, Dr. Francis D. Griffin, is hospitalized today with a heart ailment. Dr. Griffin, a dental surgeon, was stricken with a heart attack Monday. It was reported "much improved" last night and resting comfortably this morning.

Waives the Rules

Columbia, Va. (AP)—Town council is pretty deliberate here. In this town of 119 residents, there hasn't been a council election since 1951 and nobody gave it much thought until Bernard Dickerson wanted the town to open a street that was first planned 179 years ago. Council opposed the idea and stood off a challenge to its legality in office when the circuit judge said member, in effect, had been legally reappointing themselves over the years. Relieved, council members decided they better have an election this year and win undisputed legal status. But they missed out on this too. The county attorney said the town charter provides for candidates to file for office 60 days in advance of an election set for the fourth Thursday in May. Nobody got around to filing.

Liner Delays Trip

Paris, June 19 (AP)—The French liner Liberte was forced to delay its scheduled departure for New York today because of a strike by maritime engineers and mechanics of the Communist-dominated General Workers' Union (CGT). The strike was in its third day. Shipping officials expressed concern that the delay in the departure of the French Line vessel would throw transatlantic passenger traffic into confusion in the midst of one of the heaviest tourist season in decades.

Traffic Cases Today in Court

Two teenagers were arrested on license charges after a traffic mishap on Delaware avenue last night, another arrest followed a collision at Foxhall and Flatbush avenues this morning and a child was injured in another accident at North Front street and Washington avenue today.

Gunther D. Nowag, 16, of 55 North Front street, was arrested on a charge of driving without a license after the Delaware avenue mishap and Jack Karl Ruebel, 16, of Esopus, was charged with permitting an unlicensed operator to drive.

Each was fined $10 by City Judge Raymond J. Mino today.

Officers Gilbert Gray and Floyd Krohn reported at 8:10 p. m., that a coupe, owned by Ruebel, and driven by Nowag, struck the sedan of Fred Schoonmaker, of 627 Delaware avenue, while it was parked near that address.

Raymond J. Beaton, 50, of Greenfield, Mass., was arrested on a stop-sign charge after a three-car mishap at Foxhall and Flatbush avenues at 7:48 p. m., today, but the charge was withdrawn in city court.

Officer George Dougherty and Special Officer Jack Marquardt said the car of Ludwig Heide-mann, 41, of Glenierie Lake Park, and a sedan, driven by Raymond Beaton collided at the intersection, and the latter struck the car of Rudolph R. Romberg, 34, of 87 Franklin street, as it was headed east on Flatbush avenue.

Beaton was arrested by Heide-mann.

Candace Henion, 6, of RD 4, Box 188, Kingston, police said, suffered a neck injury, and was treated at Kingston Hospital after the mishap at Washington avenue and North Front street.

The report at 9:30 a. m., said the car of Harold V. Henion, of the same address, and that of John Marmo, 31, of Hurley, were in collision at the intersection.

New Hurley

New Hurley, June 19 — On Thursday afternoon of last week the Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. Charles Jenkins in Walkill. The president, Mrs. Wilbur J. VanWyck, presided. It was reported that a layette had been sent to Annyville, Ky. Also that a donation was given to the East Harlem Summer Camp. A cradle roll has recently been started in the society with Mrs. Arnold Terwilliger as chairman. She reported she now has 14 babies enrolled. The program for the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Burton Ward who explained the East Harlem Mission. The devotions were led by Mrs. Nelson Hedges. At the close of the meeting a social time was enjoyed and refreshments were served by the hostess. On July 11, the society will hold a picnic at the church hall. The ladies of the congregation are invited.

EK Vol Suffers Broken Foot in Fighting Blaze

James Costello, a member of the East Kingston Volunteer Fire Department, suffered a broken foot while fighting a fire that destroyed a 1957 sedan about midnight Monday on the Ulster Landing road, it was reported today.

The injury was originally believed to be a fracture but X-rays indicated a break.

Mr. Costello will be in Benedictine Hospital for four or five days, it was said.

Fell Over Hose

The break came when Mr. Costello fell over a water hose in the dark and twisted his foot badly. Despite pain he continued to fight the fire, which may have contributed to the severity of the break, it was explained.

Mr. Costello served as chief of the East Kingston Department for four or five years. He was succeeded last year by Louis Clausi.

Joseph Ausanio and Ralph Garafalo of Kingston were treated at Kingston Hospital for minor injuries suffered when the car left the road, smashed into a tree and burst into flame.

It was reported that Mr. Ausanio was operating his car along the Ulster Landing road shortly before midnight when the car went out of control. Both men managed to get out of the vehicle before they were burned.

The new pastor was born in London. He is married to the former Ella Peacock and they have two children, Petra Shelley and John Winston.

The Rev. Mr. Norman was minister to four churches in England before coming to the states six years ago. In 1951-52, he served as pastor for the church in Staten Island and then attended the Seventh-Day Adventist Seminary in Washington, D. C., for graduate work for nine months prior to his pastorate at the Long Island church.

He attended the Rockmont School, London Choir School, Norwood Technical College and Newbold Missionary College. He also attended the London Royal Society of Arts and took his last training courses at the seminary in Washington.

The Rev. Mr. Norman and his family moved here last Thursday to the corner of Flatbush and Tammam avenues.

The Rev. Mr. Jacobs will make his headquarters in the Greater New York Conference offices, Forest Hills, L. I. His duties will include visits to churches in the conference and he expects to return to Kingston from time to time.

The Kingston church recently honored the Rev. Mr. Jacobs and his family at a farewell party and presented them with a gift.

Dutchess Worker Collapses, Dies Of Heat Stroke

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—John Bezen, 60, of Poughkeepsie, an employee of the Dutchess County Highway Department, collapsed and died of a heat stroke yesterday.

38 Are Shaken Up

Grants, N. M., June 19 (AP)—About 38 passengers were bruised and shaken up last night when a freak accident slammed on the emergency brakes of the Santa Fe's westbound El Capitan streamliner. No one was hurt seriously. A railroad spokesman said about 14 miles east of Grant a loose tie plate flew up and severed the air brake hose on one of the cars. This automatically applied the emergency brakes. The four rear cars came uncoupled and then slammed back into the forward part of the train as it stopped.

Welcomes Cardinal

Warsaw, June 19 (AP)—An enthusiastic crowd of 20,000 mobbed Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński today on his return from six weeks in Rome. Cheering, hymn-singing women threw flowers in the path of the cardinal, Poland's Roman Catholic primate. It took a cordon of young priests and laymen 20 minutes to clear the way from his train to his car. Crowds at stations along the way across Poland made the train nearly two hours late arriving at Warsaw's central station. The thousands waiting in the capital shouted "long live the primate" and sang the hymn "God Be With Us," a symbol of the Polish church's struggle during the Stalinist era.

F. M. Smalley Dies

Glens Falls, N. Y., June 19 (AP)—Frank Mather Smalley, 80, former president of the Glens Falls Insurance Co., died last night in Glens Falls Hospital. At the time of his death, Smalley was a director of the company.

World News in Brief

Court Appeal Seen

Washington, June 19 (AP)—The government moved with all speed today in an effort to upset a court ruling barring U. S. authorities from turning over GI William S. Girard to Japan for trial on manslaughter charges.

All indications pointed to a direct appeal to the Supreme Court, with hopes for a final decision before the court ends its present term next Monday.

New Ike Victory

Washington, June 19 (AP)—Strong, bipartisan approval of U. S. membership in the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) has given President Eisenhower another foreign policy victory in the Senate.

Democrats slightly outnumbered Republicans in the 67-19 vote by which the Senate last night ratified the IAEA Treaty and approved U. S. participation in the plan. The proposed agency is an outgrowth of Eisenhower's "atoms for peace" proposals in 1953. No House action is necessary.

Tapping Denied

Washington, June 19 (AP)—James R. Hoffa's lawyer today claimed evidence against him was obtained by wire tapping, but the government promptly denied it.

Hoffa, midwest Teamsters Union boss, arrived a half hour early this morning for the start of his federal district court trial. The government charges he bribed and conspired to plant a paid informer on the Senate Rackets Committee staff.

Hoffa's attorneys filed a motion to quash any government evidence obtained through wire tapping.

Labor Officials

morning by men carrying Ulster and Sullivan Building Trades Council signs.

Doyle's Order Ignored

The project is being picketed despite an order from Samuel Doyle of Middletown ordering the membership to stop picketing. Doyle is president of the Ulster and Sullivan Building Trades Council and business agent of Local 417, Ironworkers.

It is charged by anti-Mayer forces that the pickets are inspired by him in their revolt against Council leadership.

During the controversy over the tunnel project charges were made that large sums of money might be involved in "payoffs" to unions by contractors. This added fuel to the labor dispute and it was suggested that if such matters were known to exist Mayer should refer them to the district attorney for investigation.

A project manager for the contractor on water works projects in Sullivan and Delaware counties has branded as "an absolute untruth" the statement allegedly made by Mayer regarding the payoffs. He has invited an inspection of the books by an "authorized investigator."

He was also president of the Glens Falls Savings and Loan Assn. and a director of the Glens Falls Hospital. Born in Syracuse, Smalley was graduated in 1898 from Syracuse University. He was a trustee of the university for many years up until the time of his death.

His comments were in a report prepared for the annual meeting of the American Society for Engineering Education.

Famed and Lowly Bring Others to Graham Crusade

New York, June 19 (AP)—One person brings another.

That's a key way by which New York Christians are getting skeptical acquaintances into Madison Square Garden each evening to hear Billy Graham. Businessmen and housewives, the famed and the lowly are taking part in the job.

It's called "Operation Andrew"—derived from the fact that the apostle Andrew brought his brother, Peter, to Jesus.

Few Came Alone

"Very few ever came to Jesus without somebody bringing them," Graham says.

There are some striking examples of how the process is working to get a variety of people out to hear the evangelist—who otherwise might not go—but who end up in some cases dedicating themselves to Christ.

One Manhattan business executive, Jewish-born Jack L. Lewis, who was led to Christianity by Graham, has reserved a box at the Garden, and brings about 15 to 18 guests each evening.

"I've never been so happy as since I found Christ," he said. "I was always groping for something... and now that I've found it, I want others to find it too."

He rounds up his groups by hundreds of telephone calls to friends, customers and business associates, and on occasion, by taking large parties out to dinner before the Graham meetings.

Morris Townsend, another New York businessman, fills a reserved box each evening with guests.

War Hero Present

One guest last night was Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, hero of the war in the Far East. Others have included such notables as hostess Perle Mesta, writer-actress Diana Barrymore and socialite Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt.

But the main "operation Andrew" chore is being done by ordinary church people. Two churches are running nightly bus rides to the meetings—free to all—from downtown Brooklyn. Others are doing the same from other areas.

16,500 In Audience

Graham told of one man who had never before met a single neighbor in his apartment building, but who went around inviting all of them to the crusade. So far, 37 have attended, and 16 have stepped forward to "accept Christ."

"They've got a real Christian cell going in that apartment building," Graham told his audience of 16,500 last night. He urged believers to intensify efforts to get non-church people to the meetings.

His sermon text last night was 2 Corinthians 4:4. At the close of his sermon, 445 people made "decisions for Christ," raising the total to 19,545.

Power Output Up

New York, June 19 (AP)—The nation's output of electricity went up slightly this week to maintain a level 4.7 per cent higher than the same week in 1956, Edison Electric Institute reported today. Power production for the week amounted to 11,958,000,000 kilowatt hours, compared with 11,550,000,000 the week before and 11,425,000,000 for the corresponding week a year ago.

Maid—Yes, sir, but I could not make out the name. To be on the safe side I said you would let him have something on account tomorrow.

Love is an ocean of emotions, entirely surrounded by expenses.

Friend—Why so sad-looking, Bill?

Bill—Aw, I just heard a guy call another fellow a liar, and that fellow said that if he didn't apologize there'd be a fight.

Friend—Well, what's in that to make you so sad?

Bill (disgustedly)—Shucks, the guy apologized.

The local butcher was rapidly growing impatient with the Smith family's reluctance to pay their bills. He wrote a very sharp note demanding payment.

Mr. Smith stormed into the shop as soon as he received the note and shouted at the butcher:

"See here, Mr. Jones. I'll stand for no more of your nonsense. We put all of our unpaid bills in a bowl every month and draw out the four that we are able to pay. Now, if you persist in dunning us like this we won't bother to put your bills in the bowl at all."

Husband (rushing in the front door)—I bought something today for the one I love best... guess what!

Wife—A box of cigars.

If you look at the North and South hands you will see that six clubs makes easily. Declarer draws trumps, ruffs one of North's spades with one of his trumps and loses one heart trick only.

While the slam is a lay-down it is not easy to bid. South has a normal no-trump and North only has 10 points in high cards. When the hand was played in a Toronto duplicate some pairs landed in three no-trump and were set by a heart opening. Others got to four spades and made five.

A couple of pairs using the solite force to game. If a player who has used the transfer bid shows another suit he is forcing to game.

South's three diamond bid was an all purpose bid and naturally showed diamonds tops. North's jump to four spades indicated that he had no interest in no-trump and some slight interest in a slam. He could have bid three spades and South would have had to continue.

South's five club bid showed good clubs and also a willingness to play a slam. South could not have worried about the four spade contract.

Finally, North's six club bid was based on his singleton heart. With two hearts he would have stopped at five.

SHOKAN NEWS

Shokan, June 18—Callers in the hub of the reservoir country Wednesday included Mrs. Charles W. Leng, Masonville, Delaware county, who was en route to New Haven, Conn.

Wilbur Elmendorf, Kingston resident who died June 10 at the age of 91, had a number of friends in this section where he resided as a boy. A son of Conrad and Thankful Elmendorf whose farm lay along the East Butternutkill, he was also a descendant of the Conrad Elmendorf who held by English royal patent a large grant of land in Olive and Hurley.

Visiting the local museum Thursday was Marian Jamison of Central avenue, Newburgh, who with several friends drove here for dinner at one of the West Olive resorts. Mrs. Jamison is a friend of Robert Bloom, a native of Shokan who now makes his home at Waverly.

Having a birthday June 20 is Mrs. Simeon Trowbridge, the former Anna Van Kleeck of Ashokan, who resides near the Marletown line.

Beatrice S. Gardner of the Woodstock mountain road was a Shokan caller Saturday. Miss Gardner, an art teacher, has recently returned home after spending several months with friends in Hawaii.

Delaware county residents here Wednesday included Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Storie of Hobart. Mrs. Storie's hobby is collecting pitchers of which she has over 600, and she also has 75 old glass salt dishes, all different.

Carl Adel, former Ashokan boy who with his family recently moved here, is driving one of the big milk tankers between the mountains and the city.

Concession

Kalamazoo, Mich. (AP)—Harry Myers, 78, who says he's never seen an airplane up close, a television set, a talking motion picture, and hardly ever reads a newspaper, makes one concession with modern times. Myers says he keeps two radios tuned to music in his stable for his horses.

Think It Through

By E. F. HUTTON

"I'm opposed to making a 'sacred cow' of the military whose billions in expenditures constitute the real reason for the $ tax-load being too high. The real meat of the budget seems to be getting little attention. Guns, ships, tanks, planes, A- bombs are in the open, but what are the actual needs for these; and in what proportions are they needed? Everybody knows that they waste money like the BIBLE'S prodigal son. Did any one ever hear of a general telling how a dollar could be saved? We've had a lot of generals. Can you name one? They shy away from saving money like a sheep from a sulphur spring.

And, speaking of economy, Grocery Manufacturers, Inc., finds that "out of every 5¢ a family spends for food, 4¢ is for fats and one buck for taxes."

In the purchase of a 2,000 $ automobile, 500 $ go for taxes. And so on. Taxes are the biggest factor causing inflation. The next factor in high prices is labor demands. But that can't go on forever either. The housewife can handle some labor demands for jumping wages on milk deliveries. She can now purchase non-fat solids and make her own milk at home. It's as nourishing as fresh milk. That, neighbor, helps to combat inflation and get more out of our 50-cent bucks.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

New York, June 19 (AP)—Making fewer freight cars haul more goods faster—and keeping costs down as much as possible—is a major headache today for the railroads.

The public is also watching because it demands more service—and at the same time frets at the steady climb in freight rates since the war.

Divided on Problem

Railroad men are divided over how to meet the problem. And so are the car makers. They are trying automation in car building plants as well as in the freight yards. And they are turning to research laboratories to study design of cars best fitted to the most track and yards.

Growing competition from trucks and barge lines spurs the search by the railroads. Some railroads and some car makers stick to the traditional method of custom tailoring the cars to the specifications of individual roads and their customers. Others tout the advantages of standardization.

Starting standardization of rolling stock in 1946, Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing Co., subsidiary of Pullman Inc., has built and sold 110,000 freight cars of the new type which permits automation and mass production and cuts retooling to the minimum. It started with box cars—and in 10 years has produced 87,000—added gondolas or open top cars, and then covered hoppers.

Favors Standard Cars

Today the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad gets delivery of the 10,000th standardized covered hopper car built in Pullman's Butler, Pa., plant. The road's president, A. W. Schroeder, favors standardized hoppers because "our four cement factories on-line appreciate them." He adds that standardization lets the smaller roads place orders at the same price and get the same delivery date as a larger line placing a larger order—because production schedules are speeded since no special retooling is needed.

Pullman-Standard officials say they also are able now to sell prefabricated parts, tops, sides, ends, doors, floors and underframes to railroads for assembly in their own shops at a saving in production costs.

Flexibility isn't lost, the makers maintain. Shippers wanting the newer 50 foot 6 inch box cars can get them as well as the older 40 foot 6 inch type.

5 Million for Research

In its 10 million dollar research and development laboratory at Hammond, Ind., Pullman-Standard has spent five million dollars in the last five years for rolling stock tests, to improve efficiency, achieve flexibility and still retain the economy of standardization.

Railroad men are calling for more freight cars as the nation's economy grows. Both John W. Barriger, president of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie, and William White, president of the Delaware and Hudson, predicts 500,000 new ones will be needed in the next five years, one million in the next 10.

Fewer Since War

At present the railroad fleet comes to just under two million freight cars, down about 60,000 since the end of World War 2.

William T. Faricy, president of the Assn. of American Railroads, stresses that in the last 30 years the number of freight cars has diminished by about 30 per cent, but the roads now handle nearly half again as much freight as then.

One reason is bigger and better cars, he says, and efficiency of operation. He notes that "today's rail is stronger, longer wearing, safer than the steel of 25 years ago."

He adds that treated cross ties mean the roads need 25 million new ones a year now, compared with more than 75 million in the old days, a cut of 250 million dollars in annual expense of track maintenance.

Japanese Prison Not Hard On Servicemen Doing Time

Yokosuka, Japan, June 19—If William S. Girard is convicted in a Japanese Court he will serve in a cell equipped with radio and running water. He will eat a western diet and play baseball if he wants to.

That is the life now being led in Yokosuka Prison by 33 U. S. servicemen convicted by Japanese courts for off-duty offenses. Their trials were held under the same agreement which Japan claims gives it the right to try Girard for the killing of a Japanese woman on a U. S. firing range.

A Japanese military jail renovated for Americans at Japanese expense, Yokosuka Prison lies inside a 15-foot wall 30 miles south of Tokyo. All U. S. servicemen sentenced by Japanese courts come here.

U. S. military liaison officers make regular checks on their welfare. They say the food is good, plentiful, and "more nourishing than necessary."

Typical Meal

A noon meal, being prepared when this reporter toured the prison, included soup, a medium-size hamburger steak, home-fried potatoes, lettuce salad, sliced onions and as much enriched bread as the prisoners wanted.

The men live in private cells, or double if they wish. A radio speaker, tuned to the English-language Far East network, plays 4½ hours a day. Each cell has a toilet and wash basin.

The wood-floor, painted cells are centrally heated, a luxury not found in the warden's office or even in the Ministry of Justice Building.

Dressed in blue fatigues, the men work daily shifts in a small box making plant, a pipe-bending (furniture components) shop, radio repair room or shoe repair shop.

Good Behavior Helps

Thirty-one are serving for robbery, robbery and injury, manslaughter, rape, attempted rape, or assault. Average sentence is three to five years. Some are only six months.

Two airmen convicted of murder and robbery are serving 15-year terms. They could be paroled in five years since any Japanese sentence can be cut by two-thirds for good behavior.

Workshops are closed on every American holiday and six Japanese holidays a year.

Get Medical Care

Two full-time physicians check the inmates' health, and a dentist is available. Any man seriously ill is taken to a U. S. Navy hospital.

A U. S. major tours the building once a month, but the men have an opportunity to speak to American representatives about five times every week—to air grievances or just talk. A liaison sergeant makes two tours weekly, two chaplains hold services for Catholics and Protestants; an educational adviser interviews the men, and an English missionary gives language lessons and other instruction.

In one cell wing is a 900-book library, which most of the men use. A small "PX" run by the prisoners handles American toilet goods. The men are paid a small amount for work in the shops.

Lunch hours and much of the off-time are taken up by baseball on a big, gravel-coated yard.

"The only form of punishment we have is solitary confinement," said Warden Kiyoshi Takahashi. "And the man is kept in his own cell."

DAR Evening Group Elects New Officers

Officers for the 1957-58 season were elected and committee chairmen appointed at a meeting of the newly-formed evening group of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Monday at the Chapter House. After a covered dish supper, planned by Mrs. Hollis Burhans, the business session was held with Mrs. Floyd N. Ellsworth, organizing chairman, presiding, and new officers were elected as follows: Miss B. Isabel Herdman, chairman; Mrs. Stuart S. Randall, vice-chairman; Miss Virginia Curtis, secretary; Mrs. Charlotte A. Peck, treasurer.

The members of the group also voted to undertake two projects during the coming year; one directly related to the work of the National Society, DAR, and one more closely connected with local activities. For this purpose, the group decided to interest itself in projects related to the National Society's Approved Schools program and also in projects under the Chapter's Community Service Committee.

Committee chairmen appointed by the newly elected chairman, Miss Herdman, were: program, Mrs. Stuart S. Randall; press, Mrs. Walter McClure Jr.; hospitality, Mrs. R. R. Empringham. Special project chairmen will be announced.

The primary purpose of this newly formed evening group, according to Mrs. Clair S. Sheaffer, chapter regent, is to enable those chapter members who are employed, or who are for other reasons unable to attend the regular afternoon meetings of the chapter, to participate actively in its activities and interests. Meetings of the new group will be held on the second Monday evening of each month from October through June.

Mrs. Walter McClure Jr., chapter registrar, announced that she would be very happy to assist any newcomers to this area who may be eligible for DAR membership with membership applications, or to arrange for transfers for members who may have moved to Kingston recently.

Migrant Worker Is Heart Victim

Paul Rocher, 50, of the Maverick road, town of Hurley, a migrant dishwasher at Catkill area summer resorts, was found dead in a nearby vacant lot late Tuesday afternoon.

Coroner Francis J. McCardle and the Ulster county sheriff's office investigated, the coroner issuing a verdict of death due to coronary occlusion—a heart attack.

Mr. Rocher had apparently lain in the sun for three or four hours before he was discovered by a neighbor Charles Martin.

The coroner said Tuesday was Mr. Rocher's day off and he had walked the short distance from his home to the vacant lot where he suffered the attack.

He had been employed at a number of area restaurants and resorts in recent years.

Surviving is his widow, Mary, of New York city, and their five children.

He was reportedly estranged from his wife and had lived alone on the Maverick road.

Undersheriff Clayton W. Vredenburg and Deputy Peter Peterson assisted in the investigation.

The body was turned over to the Walter B. Cooke Funeral Home, New York city.

The Boston Tea Party occurred Dec. 16, 1773.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Warren Smith, president of Kingston Lions said the mystery as "Who Put the Overall in Mrs. Murphy's Chowder" had not been solved.

Snyder Is Speaker

The program, in charge of Harold O'Connor, included an opening dinner course of "chowder" and then proceeded into a session of Irish songs and special recognition of the guests.

Frederic Snyder, well known lecturer and news commentator responded and in his usual humorous manner entertained with fitting remarks.

Those who attended included Kathryn M. ### Health Committee To Aid Infirmary Therapy Program

The rehabilitation committee of the Ulster County TB and Health Association announced today it will assist the Ulster County Welfare Department in an occupational therapy and rehabilitation program at the Ulster County Infirmary, Flatbush avenue.

Mrs. William McNamee, chairman of the patients' service committee, said the group will augment the program and assist Charles Tarsia, occupational therapist, who is now conducting a part-time project of arts and crafts for patients at the Infirmary.

Grant From Supervisors

The rehabilitation committee has been working with patients at the Ulster County TB Hospital and Mr. Tarsia for the past several years, and Mr. Tarsia recently has included the Infirmary in the program, working under the direction of Edward Murray, welfare commissioner, through a grant from the Board of Supervisors.

The work at the Ulster County TB Hospital is carried on for the patients with funds provided by Christmas Seals and is directed by Dr. Herbert Schwartz, medical superintendent.

Entertainment Cited

Mrs. Jacob Meyers reporting at the meeting for Raphael Klein, chairman of entertainment, said that several organizations were contacted, and provided very fine entertainment and refreshments for the patients during the past two months. Arrangements are now being made for the next two months. The Business and Professional Club of the YWCA continue to remember the patients on their birthdays.

Hostesses are covering various clinic sessions at the hospital. Miss Florence Cordts, chairman, reported the visiting committees were kept very busy shopping for necessities for the patients.

The patients appreciate these services and the ladies enjoy the work. Doctor Schwartz reported that at a recent meeting of Tuberculosis Superintendents which he attended, much emphasis was placed on the rehabilitation of patients and the importance of treating the man as a whole and not just his disease. It was brought out the trend is for expanded rehabilitation programs. A sale of articles made by the patients at the TB Hospital was planned by the committee for August 16 at Montgomery Ward's store. Space in a local store window is being sought by the members for an exhibition of paintings which have been completed by the patients in the occupational therapy department.

EK Braves Win, 9-8

Dodgers rallied in late innings, but it was too late as Braves held them off for a 9-8 victory in Glascow-East Kingston Little League yesterday at East Kingston field.

Braves rolled up all their runs in four frames, before Dodgers began futile comeback. Trailing 9-1, Brooks got two in fourth and five in fifth, but couldn't get over equalizer.

Strangely enough, only eight hits were struck in high-scoring game. Braves got four of them including lone extra base hit which was a double by Dan Fiore.

Frank Serravallo and Dom Berardi shared the mound work for Braves with Serravallo the winner. Fran Guido, the loser, and Butch Marino pitched for Braves.

Strikeouts went like this: Serravallo (6), Berardi (4), Guido (8), Marino (6). Serravallo and Marino each walked eight, Guido five and Berardi two.

Hughes, Bostic VanAken, Randall Vie for Crown 1st Round Saturday At Wiltwyck Club

More than 40 of Ulster county's top amateur golfers, including defending champion George Hughes of The Twaalfskill Club will tee off in the first round of the seventh annual Herdegen Memorial golf tournament Saturday at Wiltwyck Country Club.

The 1957 field, probably the strongest in the history of the tournament, will feature two former champions — Bill Van Aken and Clarence (Dubby) Raichle—and several topnotch newcomers.

Leon Randall and Harvey Bostic, who recently set the Wiltwyck course record of 69, are formidable threats to the defending champion. Alvin Boice, a perennial challenger is also in the field.

The second round is scheduled Sunday at 10 a. m. at the Shawangunk Country Club at Ellenville. The field will be cut after 36 holes for the final rounds, Saturday, June 29, at The Twaalfskill and Sunday, June 30 at Woodstock Country Club.

Three-Time Champion
Hughes is the only three-time winner in the field. Van Aken has won the crown twice and Raichle once.

Woodstock will be represented by a strong delegation, including Henry (Bud) Leininger, Allen Waterous and his two sons, Bill and Herbie; Bill Van Aken, Harold Van Aken, Tom McCrossen, Fred Allen, Bill Marks and Steve de Lisio.

Other name golfers include

Lou Smith, Charles J. (Jimmy) Turck, Judge Charles H. Gaffney, Judge Louis G. Bruhn.

Kingston High School's varsity squad will be represented by Mike and Ted Bruhn and Bill Parmelee, an alumnus.

Bilyeu In Field

The Shawangunk challengers are headed by club champion, Tim Bilyeu. Also in the field are Carroll H. Schipp, Fred Van Keuren, Harold Harris, Ed Passmore, Harold Harris and George Barthel.

Wiltwyck annually furnishes the bulk of the field has Randall and Bostic going, along with Dr. George Rifenburg, Dr. Fred Holcomb Jr., the tournament chairman; Turck, George Cosenza, Bill Costello, Dick Stewart, Bob Daley and Ronnie Marks.

The winner will receive the Herdegen Memorial trophy, symbolic of the Ulster county amateur championship, and a merchandise gift. Prizes will be awarded for the first 15 places. The pairings and schedule for the first two rounds will be published Thursday.

Frick Cautions Congress Against Chaos in Baseball

Washington, June 19 (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said today Congress would "threaten the foundations of the national game" if it placed baseball under federal antitrust laws. Frick said such action would result in endless lawsuits, "uncertainty and chaos for players and clubs" and public suspicion of the "honesty of a game no longer allowed to regulate itself effectively."

In a statement prepared for a House antitrust subcommittee, Frick added that if antitrust legislation were applied to the national pastime:

"I don't see better baseball, or lower admission prices, or better ball parks, or anything better for the fan. In short I see baseball set back 50 years."

Frick was the star witness as the subcommittee again took up its investigation of the status of professional team sports under anti-trust laws. The Supreme Court has ruled baseball is exempt from the Sherman act to curb monopolies but that football and boxing are covered. It has indicated the baseball decision likewise would not carry over to other team sports.

George M. Trautman, president of the minor leagues, was on call after Frick. He was expected to back up the commissioner's testimony.

Rep. Herlong (D-Fla.) previously told the subcommittee the minors would suffer along with the majors if Congress took away baseball's antitrust immunity.

Byrd With Birmingham

Harry Byrd, ex-Oriole and Yankee pitcher, is with Birmingham in the Southern Association.

The University of Washington is not entered in the Intercollegiate Rowing Regatta this year, but the Huskies chances of losing out completely are slim. The head coaches at eight of the 12 competing Regatta schools are Washington alumni.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST

By Hal Sharp
CAMPFIRE COFFEE

MOST CAMPERS THINK COFFEE MUST BE BOILED WHEN MADE IN A POT OVER A CAMPFIRE. BOILING RUINS THE FLAVOR OF COFFEE AND IS UNNECESSARY, EVEN IF A PLAIN POT IS USED. USE A HEAPING TABLESPOONFUL OF COFFEE FOR EACH CUP, AND AN EXTRA SPOONFUL FOR EVERY 6 CUPS OR LESS IN POT. THEN ADD WATER, COLD. WHEN IT COMES TO A BOIL, REMOVE FROM FIRE, LET STAND 2 MINUTES, THEN POUR INTO ANOTHER POT TO SEPARATE COFFEE FROM THE GROUNDS.

Florida Democrat Supports Baseball In Testimony

Washington, June 19 (AP)—Placing baseball under antitrust laws would cause the game "serious and perhaps irreparable injury," Rep. Herlong (D-Fla.) said today.

Herlong told a House antitrust subcommittee that minor leagues would suffer along with the majors if Congress passed a law abolishing the player reserve clause or other fixtures of the sport.

In a prepared statement, Herlong said the minors depend on "public spirited local citizens," and major league clubs with which they have working agreements, to ease financial strains. Nearly every club in the minors takes a "substantial loss" each year, he said.

Called to Testify

Herlong was called to testify as the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Celler (D-NY), resumed hearings into the status of professional team sports under federal antitrust laws.

The Supreme Court has held baseball is exempt from such statutes but that football is covered. It has said rulings excluding baseball would not necessarily apply to any other sport, such as basketball and ice hockey.

Waiting to testify later in the day were baseball Commissioner Ford Frick and George M. Trautman, president of the minor leagues. They have contended the Sherman Antitrust Act was never intended to affect baseball.

The subcommittee is studying a half-dozen bills which would either declare pro sport subject or immune to antitrust jurisdiction—or cover only commercial aspects of their operation.

High Pleas

New York (AP)—A couple of ladies have helped persuade Ethel Merman to change her mind. The star of "Happy Hunting" has made it a practice not to tour with shows following their Broadway run. Hereafter, however, she promises Merman shows will visit Washington. Miss Merman made the vow to 600 guests after listening to pleas while attending the annual Congressional Club breakfast in the capital. The pleas were by Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower and Mrs. Earl Warren.

Patton, Campbell Picked Again for Walker Cup Team

New York, June 19 (AP)—Billy Joe Patton and Bill Campbell are repeating members of a 10-man U. S. Walker Cup golf team named today to face Britain's best at the Minikahda Club, Minneapolis, Aug. 30-31.

Conspicuously missing from the lineup was the national amateur champion, Harvie Ward Jr., of San Francisco, who is serving a year's probation on expense irregularities. He is applicant for reinstatement as an amateur.

Patton, who shared the half-way lead in the National Open last week at Inverness in Toledo, is the lone returning player on the squad which beat the British, 10-2, at St. Andrews, Scotland, in 1955. Campbell served as playing captain of that team but did not inject himself into the lineup.

Charles Coe of Oklahoma City, 1949 amateur champion and member of the Walker Cup teams in 1949, 1951 and 1953, will serve as nonplaying captain. As first alternate, however, he may take active status.

The only schools ever to "sweep the river" (win all three races) at an Intercollegiate Rowing Regatta are Cornell, Navy and Washington.
